AMERICAN STEAMER TORPEDOED BRITISH BATTLESHIP IS SUNK LAND FIGHTING GROWS SEVERE

LITTLE DAMAGE IS DONE THE VESSEL

British Admiralty Says Torpedoed — Captain Reports May Have Been Mine.

NO LIVES WERE LOST

Explosion Off the South Coast of Ireland—Submarine in Neighborhood

London, May 26.—The American steamer Nebraskan, Captain Greene, from Liverpool May 24 for Delaware Breakwater, was torpedoed yesterday by a submarine at a point 40 miles west southwest of Fastnet, off the south coast of Ireland. No lives were lost.

The crew at once took to the boats, but after finding that the Nebraskan was not seriously damaged, they returned aboard and got the vessel underway. She had been struck forward and her forcholds were full of water. The Nebraskan did not carry any passengers.

The foregoing information was received today by the British admiralty in London, and it was at once communicated to the American embassy. Immediately after she was struck the Nebraskan began calling for help by wireless. Browhead received the wireless communication at 9 p. m. yesterday from Crook Haven.

The torpedoing of the Nebraskan apparently occurred before 9 o'clock last night.

Colors Easily Seen.

All foreign vessels leaving Liverpool recently have had their names and nationalities painted in large letters on their sides and have flown large flags. Yesterday evening was clear and the period between 8 and 9 o'clock is the twilight hour in the British Isles at this season. A message to Lloyds says an armed trawler went to the assistance of the Nebraskan and stook by her all night.

A message to The Star from Liverpool says that the name and nationality of the Nebraskan were painted in large letters on her sides.

The German submarine campaign continues actively. Dispatches from Norway say the people of that country have been aroused by the sinking last week of the Norwegian steamer Minerva and the attempt to torpedo the Iris, which went to her assistance.

The steamer Cromer, loaded with passengers, had a narrow escape while bound for Rotterdam. A submarine fired a torpedo without warning, but missed by 15 yards.

This attack occurred four miles north of North Hinder Lightship.

AMERICAN COURSE NOT KNOWN

Definite Details as to Nebraskan Incident Not Yet Learned at Capital.

Washington, May 26.—The course of the United States government in the case of the American steamship Nebraskan damaged off the Irish coast, was undetermined tonight because officials were without definite information as to whether the ship was torpedoed or had struck a mine.

Messages from Ambassador Page and Consul General Skinner at London today transmitted the report of the British admiralty that the vessel had been torpedoed but the captain's report to her owners indicated a doubt as to whether the Nebraskan was hit by a torpedo or mine.

In view of the position the United States has taken on the subject of submarine activity in the war zone and the delicacy of the situation with Germany arising out of the Lusitania disaster, the story of the Nebraskan's experience is awaited with unusual interest. Should it develop clearly that she was torpedoed without warning, an aggravating circumstance will have been added to an already tense situation notwithstanding the fact that no lives were lost.

Regrets Don't Go.

Germany in a circular note to neutral governments on May 11 announced that regret would be expressed and payment of damages made without prize court proceedings for all neutral vessels attacked by mistake in the war zone. The United States in its note of May 13 pointed out that "expressions of regret and offers of reparation in case of the destruction of neutral ships sunk by mistake, while they may satisfy international obligations, if no loss of life results cannot justify or excuse a practice the natural and necessary effect of which is to subject neutral nations and neutral persons to new and immeasurable risks."

Navy officers say it will be a difficult task to determine from an examination of the Nebraskan's hull whether a mine or torpedo struck her. An investigation nevertheless will be ordered when the ship reaches port. An inquiry by naval attaches of the American embassy when the American steamer Gulflight reached port brought a report that a German submarine was responsible. There have been intimations since then, however, that Germany, in her reply would deny responsibility for the wrecking of the Gulflight.

So far as the State Department is informed, there is no British mine field near where the Nebraskan was struck.

The fact that the Nebraskan was

TRIUMPH IS LOST IN DARDANELLES

Most of the Officers and Men Including Captain and Commander Saved.

VESSEL WAS TORPEDOED

News Made Public in Brief Statement by the British Admiralty.

London, May 26.—The British battleship Triumph has been sunk in the Dardanelles. This official announcement was made tonight.

The disaster to the Triumph is described in a brief statement by the admiralty which says that while operating in support of the Australian and New Zealand forces on the shore of the Gallipoli peninsula yesterday the Triumph was torpedoed by a submarine and sank shortly afterwards.

Most of the officers and men, including the captain and commander, are reported to have been saved.

The submarine was chased by destroyers and patrolling small craft until dark.

The battleship Triumph was built at Barrow in 1902 for Chile, but was purchased by Greot Britain later. She was laid down under the name of Libertad.

Since the present war broke out the Triumph has been in operation in both Far Eastern and European waters. As flagship of the British Asiatic squadron she participated in the bombardment of the German base of Tsing-Tau, China, last October and was reported to have been damaged by the shell fire of the German forts.

In the latter part of April the Triumph bombarded the Turkish trenches on the western end of the Gallipoli peninsula and afterwards went into the Dardanelles to search the trenches from a different angle. Here she came under the fire of a Turkish Howitzer battery on the Asiatic shore, which dropped 15 shells around her and threw three missiles on board. Little damage was done by the shells, however, and only two men were wounded. The battleship silenced the Turkish battery before retiring.

A few days later, while landing operations were proceeding, the Triumph with other warships, in addition to covering the landing bombarded the forts in the Dardanelles to prevent reinforcements reaching the Turks from the sea of Marmora. The Triumph was credited in the official reports with having set fire to the town of Maidos during this bombardment.

The Triumph, which was commanded by Captain Maurice E. Fitzmaurice was a vessel of 11,985 tons. Her crew of officers and men in times of peace numbered about 700 men. The vessel carried four 10-inch, fourteen 7.5-inch guns and fourteen 14-pounders and four 6-pounders. She also carried two 18-inch torpedo tubes.

The Triumph was 436 feet long and had a speed of about 20 knots.

OFFICIAL BERLIN STATEMENT.

British Occupy German Trenches But Are Driven Back Soon After.

Berlin, via London, May 26.—Army headquarters today gave out the following:

"In the western theatre:

"A night advance against our newly acquired position west of the forest of Bellewaard easily was repulsed. The number of machine guns taken from the English was increased to ten.

"Northeast of Givenchy colored British troops succeeded last night in capturing a projecting part of our outmost trenches.

"Further south between Lieven and the Lorette Hills, an extensive French attack, commenced in the afternoon, failed completely.

"In the region to the north and to the south of the high road between Souchez and Bethune the enemy at first succeeded in penetrating our trenches, but our counter attacks again put us in full possession of our positions. One hundred Frenchmen remained in our hands.

"In the region south of Souches several repeated strong attacks directed by white and colored French troops against our lines, completely broke down before our entanglements. Our opponents suffered heavy losses everywhere. During the battles in the Lorrette hills, a Silesian infantry regiment especially distinguished itself.

"An advance of the enemy in the eastern part of the forest of LePretre was easily repulsed. A hostile flying machine was brought down south of Lens.

"In the eastern theatre weak night attacks were repulsed.

"In the soutneastern theatre:

"The attack by the army under General Von Mackensen is making good progress. Southeast of Radymno the village of Swiato was taken after fierce fighting. East of Radymno a crossing over the San was captured after Austrian troops had taken a bridgehead west of the San by storm.

"Further south our troops after a battle reached the district east of Lasski, and they also continued to the line of Korezenica-Zapatow. Booty in prisoners and war material increases."

GERMAN EFFORTS ARE NOT RELAXED

Battles Along Eastern and Western Fronts Continue Just the Same.

REGARDLESS OF ITALY

Austro-German Forces Renew Offensive Against Russia in Galicia.

London, May 26.—Although called on to face another enemy in Italy, whose troops have crossed the eastern border, the Austrians and Germans have not relaxed their efforts on the other fronts.

In Middle Galicia they have resumed the offensive against the Russians along the river San and claim further success; while in Flanders and Artois the Germans continue, according to the French report their furious attacks in an effort to regain ground taken from them in recent weeks and to hold that which they took from the British in the region of Ypres.

Except for the German admission that the British have captured a part of their trenches northeast of Givenchy, the reports of the belligerent headquarters continue to contradict each other.

So far as the West is concerned, however, the fighting, as has been the case for months, consists largely of trench warfare.

The Italians who have crossed the Austrian frontier to the east, along a front of 60 miles, towards the Isonzo river, have met no serious opposition. In fact, all important basis appear to be until the invaders reach the river Isonzo where the Austrians are said to be established.

In Greece the illness of King Constantine whose condition remains serious has brought the political situation to a standstill and is regarded as unlikely that there will be an developments until after the pending elections.

The alleged torpedoing of the Americans steamer Nebraskan is featured by all the London papers, which describe the incident as "another challenge to America."

ITALY DECLARES BLOCKADE

Neutral Vessels Given Time to Get Out of Certain Waters of Sea.

Rome, May 26 (via Paris).—The Italian government believing that Austria-Hungar yis utilizing several ports on the Albanian coast for secret commissariat departments, declared a blockade today against that portion of the Austro-Hungarian coast, "comprised between the Italian frontier on the north to the Montenegrin boundary on the south, including all islands, ports, anchorages and bays and also the Albanian coast from the Montenegrin limits on the north to and including Cape Kiephali on the south."

LINER AND TRAMP IN A COLLISION AT SEA

Seventy-Seven Passengers Saved From Possible Death.

Battleships Respond to "Help" Call and Passengers Brought Into New York on the South Carolina. Liner's Cargo Injured.

New York, May 26.—Seventy-seven passengers, saved from possible death when the Holland-America liner Ryndam collided early today with the tramp steamer Joseph J. Cuneo, off Nantucket shoals lightship, were brought to port tonight by the battleship South Carolina, which participated in the rescues.

The Ryndam, convoyed to Ambrose lightship by the battleship Texas, reached the harbor before her passengers arrived. She was drawing 36 feet of water and much of her cargo, valued at $1,000,000 was destroyed. A hole in her side below the water line was stopped with canvas. The Cuneo, damaged, was proceeding under her own steam to this port.

The steamer Thomas J. Millard, carrying friends and relatives of passengers and officers of the Holland-America liner went down the bay to meet the South Carolina to take on board the rescued passengers.

The Cuneo left Boston last night for Baracoa, Cuba. Shortly before 4 o'clock this morning, in a heavy fog, the steamers rammed each other. The wireless operator of the Cuneo sent out a "help" signal which was picked up by several Atlantic fleet battleships.

The Louisiana, South Carolina and Texas rushed to the scene. Before their arrival, the passengers and part of the Ryndham's crew had been transferred to the Cuneo. The fog cleared about 7 o'clock and the sailors assisted in re-transferring the passengers to the South Carolina.

DECISION REACHED BY CUSTOMS COURT

"Five Per Cent" Clause of Tariff Law Sustained

NOW TO SUPREME COURt

If Higher Court Upholds Decision Means Refund to Shippers of Duties Paid Totaling Over Fifteen Million Dollars.

Washington, May 26.—The so-called "5 per cent" clause of the tariff law granting a reduction of duties to that amount on goods imported in American ships was sustained today by the Customs Court, which held also that the 5 per cent rebate must be granted on all goods imported in ships of those countries with which the United States has "favored nation" treaties.

As such treaties exist with the principal countries of the world, the virtual egect of the decision is to reduce the customs revenue by 5 per cent.

If the decision is sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States approximately $15,000,000 in duties already collected must be refunded.

In a dissenting opinion Judge De Vries pointed out that the majority decision means that goods imported in about 5,500 foreign vessels of favored nation countries shall receive this reduction in customs duties. Five per cent of the estimated customs revenues for the present fiscal year would exceed $11,000,000 and in years to come this total would grow to even greater proportions. Moreover, it was pointed out that the decision, if it stands the test in the Supreme Court is retroactive to the extent that it applies to importations into the United States since approval of the Underwood-Simmons law more than two years ago, including goods entered in bond and subsequently withdrawn without payment of this rebate.

Effect on Fiscal Policy.

Officials realise that the decision may have a profound effect upon the fiscal policy of the United States. At present the actual working balance in the Treasury is under $15,000,000, though possibly $40,000,000 is available to be

In addition to its findings regarding goods from abroad the court held that merchandise from Cuba is entitled to a reduction of 20 per cent ad valorem as provided by the Cuban preferential treaty with the United States, and to the further discount of 5 per cent from that amount. The government, importers and American and foreign ship owners were parties to the suit. The government held that the clause applied to goods imported in ships of favored nations as well as those flying the American flag, therefore that section must be held entirely inoperative unless the favored nation treaties were abrogated. The importers were interested particularly in the granting of the rebate.

The main plea before the court on the part of American ship owners was that the favored nation treaties were in fact inoperative. In this connection the majority decision said:

"By no department of the government have these provisions ever been repudiated or denounced as unconstitutional or denied force and effect as executory merely so far as we can ascertain. On the contrary, they have, during all the time since their negotiation, been recognized, respected and enforced. To now hold them invalid,

ALL MISUNDERSTANDING HAS BEEN CLEARED AWAY

Foreign Trade Advisers Renew Informal Conferences.

British Embassy and Men Representing American Importers Renew Unofficial Conferences at an Early Date.

Washington, May 26.—All misunderstanding over the unofficial character of such negotiations having been cleared away, the State Department announced today that its foreign trade advisers would resume immediately informal conferences with British embassy officials here in the interests of American importers desirous of bringing American-owned goods out of Germany.

The statement said:

"The foreign trade advisers announce that the differences having been adjusted they will resume the informal and unofficial conferences with the embassy and will unofficially act as the representatives of American shipping interests in bringing out of those countries at war with Great Britain American-owned goods which have been apid for before March 1, 1915.

"American importers who have goods in such countries may, if they so desire, submit proof of such ownership to the foreign trade advisers who will unofficially transmit such proofs to the commercial advisers of the British embassy."

ASSEMBLY GOES TO ORLANDO, FLORIDA

Next Convention City Selected by Presbyterians.

MUCH OTHER BUSINESS

LaFayette Church Case of New Orleans Will Be Arbitrated by Northern and Southern Assemblies —Other Matters.

Newport News, Va., May 26.—The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church of the South today selected Orlando, Fla., a sthe next meeting place: sustained the action of the Synod of Arkansas in the Field case; approved a telegram from the Northern Assembly suggesting an amicable settlement of the LaFayette church case from New Orleans; received the reports of the foreign missions, narrative and systematic beneficence committees and heard an address by Rev. Dr. J. S. Lyons, representative of the Assembly, to the Associate Council of Presbyterian and Reformed Churches.

The Assembly dispensed with social diversions and held three sessions, morning, afternoon and night, in hope of clearing up the docket in time to adjourn tomorrow after or night. The commissioners worked at high speed throughout the day and disposed of much routine work in addition to the important matters transacted.

Orlando was the only city from which an invitation to hold the next Assembly was received, although other commissioners were prepared to invite the 1916 convention to their cities. Rev. Dr. L. W. Stagg, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Orlando, made such an earnest plea for the next Assembly, however, that there was no opposition to the selection of that city, and the vote was unanimous.

LaFayette Church Case.

The LaFayette church case from New Orleans has been followed with intense interest by all Southern Presbyerians and the action of the Northern Assembly in paving the way for an amicable settlement of the difficult was noted with deep gratification by the commissioners today.

Some time ago Rev. John C. Barr, pastor of the LaFayette church, obtained a letter of dismissal from Southern Presbytery of New Orleans, ostensibly, it was said, to connect himself with another presbytery of the Southern Assembly. Within 24 hours, however, officials of the Northern Assembly from Texas arrived in New Orleans and received the LaFayette church into the Northern Assembly, installing Mr. Barr as pastor. The matter was brought before the Assembly here several days ago and Rev. Dr. George T. Summey, of New Orleans, was sent to the Northern Assembly at Rochester, N. Y., to lay the case before that body. The teigram received today stated that the Northern church was willing to arbitrate the case or settle it in any other amicable way which might prove satisfactory.

It is said now that the Northern and Southern presbyteries of New Orleans will take up the matter and settle it to the satisfaction of both sides.

Arkansas Synod Upheld.

The affirmation of the action of the Synod of Arkansas means that Rev. L. P. Field cannot hold a pastorate in that synod unless the synod sees fit to revoke its action at some future date. Mr. Field was dismissed, it is said, by the Pine Bluff Presbytery, but was later taken back into the church by

CHRISTIAN ENBASSY TO JAPAN PUBLISH REPORT

Urges "Just and Equitable Treatment of All Races."

Men Sent to Japan by Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America to Better Feeling Between Nations, Report.

New York, May 26.—The importance of adopting an adequate Oriental policy for the United States, the fundamental principle of which shall be "the just and equitable treatment of all races," is urged in the report of Prof. Shailer Matthews, dean of the divinity school of Chicago University, and the Rev. Sidney L. Gulick, D. D., who composed "the Christian embassy to Japan", sent by that country early this year by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America to foster a better understanding between the two countries.

The report which has been approved by the Council was made public tonight. It recommends the adoption of such a policy and suggests to this end that "the entire immigration problem be taken up at an early date, providing for comparative legislation covering all phases of the question (such as the limitation of emigration and registration, distribution, employment, education and naturalization of immigrants) in such a way as to conserve American institutions to protect American labor from dangerous economic competition and to promote an intelligent and enduring friendship among the peoples of all nations."

"The awakening of Asia", says the report, "and her rapid acquisition of important elements of occidental civilization inaugurates a new era in the world history in which Asia is to play a new and increasingly important role.

MESSAGE FROM WILSON READ BY DANIELS TO WILMINGTON AUDIENCE

Hon. Josephus Daniels.

"You may have your warships and your cannon and you may submarine the enemy, but unless back of it all is the heart of the American people, it counts for nought. * * * The dreadnaught upon which the safety of the Nation rests is the dreadnaught you saw in the parade this morning," said the Secretary of the Navy in his address here yesterday, after reviewing the parade of more than 4,000 school children.

DETAILED STORY OF THE WAR GAME

And the Success of Red Fleet, Under Admiral Beatty.

WEATHER AIDED REDS

Admiral Fletcher's Defense Was a Good One, But Superior Force and Bad Weather Proved Too Strong a Combination to Beat.

Washington, May 26. — Superiority of the "enemy" in units representing fast and heavily armed battle cruisers, coupled with weather conditions favorable for an attack, brought failure of Admiral Fletcher's defense of the Atlantic seaboard in the naval war game which closed yesterday with Rear Admiral Beatty's invaders in a position to establish a base in Chesapeake Bay.

The story of the game, as told in reports of the commanding officers to the Navy Department today revealed that Admiral Beatty, with a theoretically stronger force, engaged the main body of the defending fleet last Thursday and destroyed about half of Admiral Fletcher's scouts while easily eluding the supporting dreadnoughts. Then when Admiral Fletcher drew off to guard against a movement against New England or New York, the "enemy" swept southward, prepared to establish a base of operations by landing an expedition from his transports and at the same time faced northward with sufficient force to deal with any squadrons the defenders might send against him.

Admiral Fletcher's defensive campaign was described as a good one, but he was handicapped not only by the weather and lack of speedy scouts with long range guns, but by inability to have the submarines on the scene when the final test against the enemy came.

The department tonight issued the following statement, summarizing reports on the maneuvers:

The Official Account.

"The war problem which has just been played off the Atlantic coast, had for its purpose the training of the officers of the fleet. The problem on the part of the Atlantic fleet was, in brief, to prevent a more powerful fleet than our own from establishing a base at some point between Eastport, Me., and Cape Hatteras, from which to invade the country. When Admiral Fletcher moved out from New York at noon of May 18th, with the fleet, he faced the difficult problem of meeting an enemy stronger than his own fleet in every branch except submarines, and especially supreior in scouts. Admiral Fletcher's plan of defense was excellent, but was not successful, owing to weather conditions and the marked superiority of the enemy in scouts.

"The attacking Red fleet, under Rear Admiral Beatty, approached at a distance of several hundred miles by a line of fast scouts spaced at intervals and covering a front of nearly 500 miles; behind this line and ready to stiffen it at any point where necessary, came a line of battle cruisers and armed cruisers. These Red scouts and cruisers had the problem not only of locating the Blue fleet, but also of preventing any concentration of ships from the Blue

Secretary of the Navy Delivers Inspiring Address Before Great Crowd.

SPENDS DAY IN THE CITY

Reviews Parade of More Than 4,000 School Children at Commencement.

Coast Guard Cutter Fires Salute in His Honor.

Bringing a personal message of greeting from President Wilson to the children of Wilmington, the boyhood home of the Nation's chief Executive, Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, was yesterday the guest of honor at New Hanover's first county commencement and following the imposing parade, in which more than 4,000 school children took part, delivered an inspiring address to the assembled multitudes on the Wilmington High school campus.

It was a great day for Wilmington and New Hanover county and was a striking revelation of the wonderful progress that the schools have made. With flags and banners flying the school children marched from Fifth and Market streets to the High School building, where Secretary and Mrs. Daniels; Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State superintendent of Public Instruction, the Board of Education, school committees and 50 or more prominent citizens of the city and county reviewed the parade. Perfect order was observed and the children marched with the precision of soldiers. Along the streets thousands of people had gathered and after witnessing the parade closed in behind and followed the children to the High School to hear Secretary Daniels' address.

The President's Letter.

Before beginning his address, which was made from an improvised stage on the west side of the High School building, Secretary Daniels said that he wished to read a letter from a man who holds the highest office in all the world. This was the personal message of President Wilson to the people of Wilmington and is as follows:

"White House, Washington, D. C., May 25, 1915.

"My Dear Mr. Secretary: I am much interested to learn of your errand in Wilmington and am going to ask you if you will not be kind enough to convey my warmest greetings to the children at my own boyhood home and give them my heartfelt good wishes. I hope the best things may happen to them.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

The reading of this letter was greeted with loud applause from the thousands that had gathered amidst the trees on the beautiful campus to hear North Carolina's foremost citizen. Secretary Daniels said that he was going to file the original in the Wilmington High School library.

Naval Salute Given.

Secretary Daniels arrived in the city on the 9:45 train from Washington and was met at the station by a delegation of prominent citizens. He was taken directly to the coast guard cutter Seminole where a salute of 19 guns was fired in his honor. This was the announcement to the people of Wilmington of his arrival. Secretary and Mrs. Daniels returned to Washington last night.

The rural school children assembled at the Hemenway school early in the morning and at 11 o'clock marched to Fifth and Market streets, where they were met by the 4,000 children of the city schools. The parade formed promptly at 11 o'clock and marched up Fifth street to Ann and thence to the High school building. The sailors of the Seminole led the procession and were followed by the band. Then came the children—and no more inspiring sight has ever been seen in Wilmington. There was the joy and thrill of youth. The freshness of eternal spring was in their steps. It was a continuous ovation for them from the time they started until they had reached the end of their march. The members of the Junior Order councils in Wilmington, who have at all times evinced great interest in education, marched in the rear of the procession.

The speaking took place on an improvised stage on the west side of the High School building. Besides the guest of honor, others who had seats on the platform were Chairman J. O. Carr and Messrs. J. G. L. Gleschen, members of the Board of Education, members of the school committees and Superintendent John J. Blair. Capt. P. H. Uberroth, of the Seminole, and his staff of officers, also had seats on the stage.

Stacy Introduces Speaker.

After the singing of "Ho, For Carolina" and "America" by the audience, Superintendent John J. Blair, who was master of ceremonies, introduced W. P. Stacy, Esq., of Wilmington, who introduced Secretary Daniels. He said that the day marked an important era in New Hanover county and showed the truly Democratic foundation of our government. Universal education, he defined as being one of the important bulwarks of a sound government. The greatest value of the day, however, he declared, was not one of educational interest but of inspiration. He thought it right fitting that the people of the city and county should pay homage and honor to one who has grown up in the State and has gone out from us and today sits in the councils of the Nation.

THEATRICAL

Twelve million gallons of water break through a dam, flood an entire village, destroying and sweeping everything before it, in "The Torrent," an astounding dramatic spectacle which heads today's bill at the Bijou. Marie Walcamp and Wellington Playter have excelled themselves in this spectacular two-reel Universal dramatic feature, and it is chock full of hair-raising thrills that will make you sit right on the edge of your seat, as you witness the swift moving action throughout. The picture is wonderfully realistic, and you can almost hear the waters roar, as they seep through the great dam, down the hillside, and engulf the little village.

"Told in the Rockies" is a great two-reel United Dramatic feature that follows, and features that eminent stage star, William V. Mong, acceded to be one of the very strongest dramatists in the pictures.

"A Shot in the Dark" is a Rex mystery drama that comes next, and features Ben Wilson and Dorothy Phillips in the leading roles.

Billie Rhodes and Jack Dillon have surpassed themselves in "He fell in the Park" a screamingly funny Nestor that winds up the stupendous six-reel bill for today.

Grand Theatre.

This is feature day sure at the Grand Theatre as every picture on the program is a two-part feature. The first, "The Property Man", is a two-part Keystone comedy full to the brim with riotous fun and laughter. Following this is the Biograph feature, "Adam Bede," the dramatic story of a man who loved one woman and was loved by another whose friend dishonored him—who was capable of making a sublime sacrifice for one he pitied—the humble carpenter whose heart stirring life drama and noble character as depicted by one of the greatest novelists of all times, has become a part of the traditions of the English speaking race. Right from the title "The Slave Girl," the observer feels this production has a story to tell and as it unfolds he is not disappointed for it carries interest from the start to the finish. Teddy Simpson plays the part of the white girl sold into slavery by Sheldon who found her as a baby after an Indian massacre. This is an exceptionally strong number and has a most pleasing climax at the finish and you go away feeling you have seen the best money can buy in photoplay productions.

SAMPSON COUNTY WIDOW THE VICTIM OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Negro Charged With the Crime is in Jail at Clinton.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clinton, N. C., May 26.—Mrs. B. L. Gainey, a highly respected widow lady, living some 20 miles north of Clinton, was the victim of a criminal assault on Monday night last about 1 o'clock, and Junius Warren, a negro who lives in the vicinity, has been arrested upon the charge of committing this dastardly crime. He was brought to Clinton yesterday by an officer and was to have a preliminary hearing, but having no lawyer or witnesses, asked for a postponement until June 10 in order to obtain these, which request was granted by the justice before whom the case came.

Warren, who is a black, stumpy negro of vicious look, is charged with having climbed through a window and entering the room of Mrs. Gainey and assaulting her there. She lived with her small children who were asleep and she was strangled and prevented from giving an alarm at the time. A track that led from Warren's house to the window, and then back to his house was found to fit Warren's foot exactly, it is said, and he is believed to be the culprit.

He has been committed to jail in Clinton without bail pending preliminary examination. While there has been some excitement, and some threats have been made, it is not believed there is any danger at present of summary vengeance being taken.

DAVIDSON COMMENCEMENT.

Trustees Transact Important Business. Class Honors for Year.

Davidson, N. C., May 26.—Davidson commencement has been in progress this week and it has been a busy one in every department of college activity. The board of trustees held their annual meeting yesterday, transacting important business. Prof. W. W. Wood, B. A., and C. E. of the University of Virginia, was elected to the chair of associate professor of applied mathematics. He succeeds Dr. C. N. Wunder, a Methodist, who served temporarily during the past two years. The trustees decided to connect Shearer Hall with the central heating plant and to install steam heat in the chemical laboratory. The board will erect at once a residence for Dr. Arbuckle and later it will build one for Dr. Sentelle of the chair of Biblical literature.

Of interest to the trustees was a decision to pay the expenses of members attending future meetings.

Davidson is making fine progress in its effort to raise $100,000. Of this amount $67,000 has been secured.

At the annual meeting of the Alumni Association held yesterday, at which Dr. R. H. Lafferty, the president, presided, Mr. Charles L. Grey, of Davidson, was elected president; Mr. W. T. Barley, of Greenwood, S. C., vice president, and Dr. J. W. McConnell, secretary-treasurer. The athletic committee is composed of Dr. H. W. McKay, of Charlotte; Dr. L. G. Bell, of Greensboro, and W. McKay Fetzer. A fee of $1 was decided on, the money to be used for arranging entertainment for the alumnae at commencement. The alumni reported good progress in the raising of $25,000 for a gymnasium.

Remarking that despite the varied activities of modern college life, efficiency in studies would always be exalted here, Dr. Thomas W. Lingle announced the honors attained in class room work as follows:

Honor roll for four years, or the entire course in college: G. W. Gignilliat, Seneca, S. C., valedictorian, 97.74; F. W. Price, Nanking, China, salutatorian, 97.52; H. B. Overcash, Statesville, philosophical oration, 97.30; W. A. McIlwaine, Kochi, Japan, 97.19.

For the college year 1914-15—Seniors: G. W. Gignilliat, 98.50, highest in college; U. S. Alexander, Charlotte, 97.87; W. A. McIlwaine, Kochi, Japan, 97.50; H. B. Overcash, 97.50; F. W. Price, Nanking, China, 96.78; C. H. Rowan, Cameron, 96.

Only 5% PLUS for the Best "Non-Skid"

PRACTICALLY all Non-Skid Tires that make serious claims to non-skid efficiency cost you 10% to 30% more than Plain Tread Tires of same brand and material.

Goodrich Safety Tread Tires cost you only 5% more than our plain tread tires.

Here's how and Why!

o o o

FORTY-FIVE years of Rubber working (in what is now the World's largest Rubber Factory) has taught us a few Kinks and Short-cuts that are not common to the Trade.

One of these now comes to the help of your Pocket-book.

Through the simple process of Thinking Hard (and being Candid with ourselves) we have found a Short-Cut to make the best Safety Tread ever put on a Tire cost us only about 5% more than it costs to make the Plain-Tread of similar quality.

Goodrich Safety Tread Tires cost you only 5% more than our own or any other plain tread tires.

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30 x 3	$9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30 x 3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32 x 3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34 x 4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55
36 x 4½	28.70	32.15	33.60	41.85	41.40
37 x 5	33.90	39.80	41.80	49.85	52.05

By testing out these Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires on a large number of Taxicabs (where they could be competitively observed and carefully checked up at the end of each day's use) and by comparing their actual performance with that of our own, and other Plain-Treads, of much higher price, we have had this fact forced upon us—

Viz:

—That there is SURPRISINGLY more Mileage, in Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, than in our own, or any other, make of Plain-Tread Tires.

So MUCH more Mileage, for only 5% more Cost looked so good to us that we decided to give Car Owners the benefit.

Here's what we now offer you!

The best Non-Skid Safety Tread ever put on the market, and it costs you only 5% more than our best plain tread tire.

MR. DOUGHTON MAY RUN FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

His Friends Insist That He Will Be in the Race

And That He Would be a Formidable Opponent of All Other Candidates. Many Years in the Legislature—Other Honors.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., May 26.—Letters received in Raleigh the past day or two from Hon. R. A. Doughton, of Alleghany, indicate that he is really giving serious consideration to the idea of running for the office of Attorney General in the next Democratic primaries. Mr. Doughton has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate, but there has not been until now any definite indication that the matter had grown to the extent of serious personal consideration by Mr. Doughton.

The fact is that his friends believe that he will really get into the race and they insist that all opposing candidacies must give way, as probably no man in the State would command such a general following for most any office he might seek as "Governor Doughton." For many sessions he has been the commanding force in the Legislative sessions, has served with marked ability as Lieutenant Governor and was the chairman of the special commission in the recent Legislature that investigated the famous Abernathy-Carter case involving the charges against Judge Frank Carter, who has announced his candidacy for Attorney General as a vindication from the charges against him and the findings of the legislative commission, which failed to completely vindicate him, except from the charges of immorality.

Could Bring Nothing from Europe.

Hon. P. S. Henry, of Asheville, who was commissioned last summer to visit European countries with a view to making special investigations as to European methods in management of public utilities, writes the Governor that he is leaving Europe for home and that he regrets to report that all his photographs and reports that he intended to submit to the Governor and the people of the State have been confiscated by the various powers, owing to the war regulations.

MESSAGE FROM WILSON READ BY DANIELS TO WILMINGTON AUDIENCE

dent's letter, Secretary Daniels expressed his pleasure in again being on North Carolina soil.

"Good to Be Home."

"It is god to be at home," he declared and the audience applauded vociferously. "It brings a thrill when you have been commissioned to go away to perform a task to come back again and find the spirit of progress and liberty as bright in North Carolina as anywhere else in this great republic."

He condemned that broad sympathy that some men claim to have that embraces the entire country and yet does not manfest itself greatly in familiar associations. The man who does not love his home better than other places, he declared, lacks the capacity for larger affection. A man who does not care for the good opinion of his friends and neighbors lacks the greatest incentive of life. The secretary made the point he was driving at clearer by stating in a nut-shell that men have little use for a man who is "above his raising." The audience cheered; they knew that the Secretary of the Navy is still devoted to his native State.

"You may have your warships and your cannon and you may submarine the enemy, but unless back of it all is the heart of the American people it counts for naught," he declared. He referred to the recent grand naval parade in New York harbor which he reviewed upon which the safety of the Nation and declared, "But the dreadnaught upon which the safety of the Nation rests is the 'dreadnaught' you saw in the parade this morning."

After paying tribute to the memory of a former Secretary of the Navy, John C. Dobbin, a native of the Cape Fear, and emphasizing the wonderful progress that has been made in the last decade, the secretary then turned to another phase of his address.

Open-Mindedness Necessary.

"Open-mindedness is necessary if men would aspire to leadership and is essential if they would be broad and strong," he declared. He told of how President Wilson had submitted a message to Congress to the members of his cabinet for suggestions as to matter, manner and style. For two hours the cabinet discussed the message and the President had little to say. When they had adjourned one of the members had remarked: "Did you ever see a man like Wilson? • • • He only seems to be striving to express the opinion of the administration."

However, men who continually receive suggestions without making a decision or acting, never get anywhere, the speaker continued, and the President is quite as remarkable for his decision and determination when once he has decided as he is for receiving suggestions.

"If you are to count for anything you must open your minds to the truth and the light and then make up your mind and fight for your principles until you win."

Turning to Dr. Joyner, he said he wished to congratulate him for such gatherings as he had witnessed in Wilmington yesterday that are being brought together all over the State. He said that he was glad to be in Wilmington, one of the reasons being that he had done most of his courting in this city. Looking around at the many children to be seen he declared that he was glad to see that there were no evidences of race suicide.

Mr. Daniels' Address.

Following the reading of the President's letter Secretary Daniels in part spoke as follows:

"It is always an inspiration to come to Wilmington where the fires of liberty have always blazed and where masterful men have always had their home. There is no finer chapter in the annals of freedom than that which records the story of the protest of the men of the Cape Fear, led by Cornelius Harnett, against the enforcement of the Stamp Act. The scene when the fearless Harnett, champion of popular liberty, and Wm. Tryon, able Governor of the colony, met for the first time in the latter's palace at Brunswick, is worthy the genius of painter or sculptor. Says Dr. Smith in his description of this event: 'Every State boasts its heroes of the Stamp Act, but in all the examples of resistance to this oppressive act, I find no deed that equals Harnett's in its blend of courage, dignity and orderliness. He and Tryon had looked each other in the eyes, and the eyes of the Englishman had quailed.' And this remarkably orderly and yet daring defiance of England antedated the Boston Tea Party by seven years! The spirit of liberty has always been the animating motive of your splendid city by the sea. In the Revolution as the chief port of entry of the colony you were the heart-center of the Revolution which swung the pivot of 'taxation without representation is tyranny!' As the door to the Confederacy, you sheltered the blockade runners which enabled the Confederacy to prolong its existence. That is a thrilling story Skippar Moffitt told of the way his ship broke away under fire from the two blockaders between which he had been caught and delivered safely in Wilmington the 900 barrels of powder with which General Winston later fought the battle of Shiloh. In that day when the lighthouse beacons and the friendly buoys had disappeared from short and from the sea, blockade running was a hazardous business, and Captain Moffitt's statement of the qualifications necessary for its success is of unusual interest: 'Success in making the destined harbors depended upon exact navigation, a knowledge of the coast, its surroundings and currents, a fearless approach, and banishment of the subtle society of John Barleycorn.'

The Spirit of Liberty.

"The spirit of the fathers, in love of liberty, in courage, in daring, was never lost, as the second revolution within your borders—within the memory of us all—attested. This spirit of daring much to attain success has permeated your whole past history and your whole contemporaneous life. It had a wonderful manifestation, when, realizing your need of better outlet when the railroad superseded the packet steamboat, your people in 1835 subscribed in their individual capacity a greater amount of stock than the value of the entire property of the town listed for taxation, an act never equalled in the history of such transactions, so far as known. The same spirit has characterized all your efforts for deeper water in the harbor. It is to be expected of a people inspired with such a history, and urged on to achievement by such citizens as Harnett, the Moodes, the Waddells, the Worths, the Lutterlohs, the Orrells, Dudley, the MacRaes, the Meares, Kidder, the Sprunts, the Murchisons, Geo. Davis, Bridgers. • • •

"There is no place of power in our day for ignorance, dullness or stupidity. Those who will not learn must give place to others that will. Modern life is complex, highly wrought and skilfully adjusted. In it there is place and opportunity for everybody, provided that everybody is fitted for his place and opportunity. If not, he clogs, hinders and ruins, or is himself crushed and destroyed. Your fathers cannot do much for you. They can send you to school, give you a course in college and offer you good advice. They can even put you into an important position in their business and give you a chance. But that is all. You cannot stay put. You cannot keep the place unless you are really of the size to fit it.

Threshold of New Era.

"We are standing on the threshold of a new and wonderful era. A great destiny is opening to humanity. All the elements have been conquered. In his flight through the air, the eagle is outstripped by man in his flying machine. The ocean steamer is swifter than the fishes that are born in the sea. The locomotive rushes around the globe faster than the whirlwind. Everywhere is heard the voice of man; it goes under the oceans and through the mountains and over the deserts and fills all the spaces of the everlasting air. The clock ticks in Paris and is heard in Washington. The rotation of the earth is too slow on its axis for modern man; he sends the news on ahead by lightning. The heavenly bodies have been counted, weighed, measured, mapped out and tested as to their elements. The Atlantic has been wedded to the Pacific. The North Pole and the South Pole will soon be twin summer resorts. Man has proved his capacity for dominion over the earth, the air, the sea and all the inhabitants thereof.

"Since Puck first proclaimed that he would 'put a girdle around the earth in forty minutes,' advances in science have been at such a rate as to stagger imagination. Prof. Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, the first scientist to admit the possibility of the heavier than air flying machine, was ridiculed and regarded as being of impaired intellect, and now the whirr of the monoplanes and biplanes has become so common as not to excite our wonder or give us pause in our daily duties. The time is coming when passenger airships will be as common between Wilmington and Washington as railroad trains are today. After the Wright Brothers had perfected their wonderful invention on the sand dunes of Kitty Hawk, a neighboring coast to yours, they gave one of the earliest exhibitions of their success in flying at Fort Meyer in Washington. The grown people looked on with wide-mouthed amazement, as if it all might be a dream, but the children, after their first absorbingly intent observation, took as a matter of course man's appropriation to his own use of bird wings. The radio-directed torpedo rivals the sword fish in its swift and accurate movements against the enemy. The wireless messages recently exchanged between Paris and Washington, a distance of 3,600 miles, to determine the difference in longitude, show the degree of perfection reached in that wonderful field of science. Tesla is devoting his wonderful genius today to the perfection of transmission of wireless power so that a cataract like Niagara or Victoria falls may be harnessed either to run a fan in my lady's boudoir or a battleship on the ocean. We are on the very threshhold of success in the use of radio active matter for storing up the ultra-violet rays which come from the sunlight. These may be transmitted to the paper which we place upon our wall so that we may keep daylight in the rooms of our home all night. The victim of disease may swallow the chemical properties of sunlight through a tube so that the loathsome cancer of the stomach may be cured. The time is surely coming when we shall accept as commonplace the marvel of seeing through brick walls even as we now hear the human voice from New York to San Francisco over the wire. Edison and Marconi are experimenting along such lines as these. The recording telephone and visual telephone are early probabilities. It was first discovered that sound was the result of vibration. Later it became known that light was the result of vibration. Which of you boys will be the Edison who will discover the delicately adjusted instrument which will enable the world to listen to the orchestral music of light at the time of an evening sunset or enable Earth to hear a distant strain of celestial melody, such as when the morning stars sang together at the Creation? Or, perhaps, he will find a way to adjust the X-ray to telepathy, and see the mind of a modern Spenser as he thinks or the heart of a modern Petrach as he loves? Will the modern Sherlock Holmes be able to use a dictograph which may record the murder-purpose in the brain of a modern Sikes before he even commits his crime? Who of the boys here will be the naval constructor to invent the submersible battleship which shall fire when at the surface of the water and then diving and re-loading, emerge to fire again?

"But a greater victory is yet before him—the victory over self, the conquest of greed and selfishness, of vice and passion, of tyranny and oppression. This victory will yet be achieved and man will some day stand erect on the globe, its master and master of himself, strong, clean and pure in body, soul and mind, emancipated from drinks, foods and habits that stupefy or inflame or degrade the intellect and the senses, freed from ignorance and passion and fear."

William Hooper Wins.

Supt. John J. Blair announced before Secretary Daniels spoke yesterday morning that the committee had decided that the William Hooper school had made the best showing in the parade. This decision was received with loud cheers. Later in the day it was announced that the Hemenway school had won the second prise.

Following the sailors and the Hanover cornet band in the parade yesterday came the Hemenway children. "The Flying Squadron," tiny tots dressed in white, pink and yellow, carrying a banner, with the inscription, "A Little Child Shall Lead Them," came first in this group. "We dreadnaught" was on another banner, while "Welcome Mr. Secretary" was on a third. A class of girls bore a banner, "Vote for Women", while a class of boys just behind carried the slogan, "Vote for We-Men."

Next came the Cornelius Harnett school followed by the Winter Park, Masonboro, Myrtle Grove, Castle Haynes, East Wilmington, Scott's Hill, South Wilmington, Wrightsboro, Wrightsville, Middle Sound, Seagate and Delgado. The children of the Acorn Branch school were prevented from coming on account of an epidemic of whooping cough. Prof. Washington Catlett, county superintendent of public instruction, had charge of this part of the parade.

Next came the children of the Isaac Bear Memorial school, marching in splendid order, carrying a banner with the inscription, "Our Friends—Metts, Van Leuven and Mann."

Then came the William Hooper school carrying banners with inscriptions, "Welcome J. Y. Joyner," and "God Hath Done Great Things for Us."

"The Navy Forever," was the slogan of the Union school aggregation, while "Excelsior," "Our Friends—Bellamy Worth and Elliott," were others.

"We Are the People," was the jaunty slogan of the High School which came up in the rear.

Secretary and Mrs. Daniels while they were in the city were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Worth. Upon his arrival yesterday Secretary Daniels was met at the station by the members of the Board of Education, Chairman J. O. Carr and Messrs. J. G. L. Gieschen and B. Solomon, and others.

Secretary and Mrs. Daniels were entertained at luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sprunt at the Greenville oSund home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sprunt and later in the afternoon were taken for an automobile ride over the city. Mrs. Daniels had arrived in Wilmington from Raleigh on Tuesday night and returned to Washington last night with Mr. Daniels.

"Schools Fine."

"Your schools are fine," said Secretary Daniels before leaving. He declared that he had been all over the country and that in no city the size of Wilmington had he seen better schools. He was also impressed with the progress that the city has made since he was last here.

neutral ships whose cargoes have come under the ban of the orders in council.

The British government, it is claimed, is showing more speed in the examination of detained cargoes and a more liberal spirit is being displayed in the interpretation of the rules covered by the orders in council, while shippers are said to be showing a greater spirit of acquiescence in the measures.

The recent agreements providing that the export of goods purchased in Germany before March 1 and arriving in Holland before May 15, consigned to the Netherlands Oversea Trust, might be shipped to America before June 1, has been amended so that goods may be shipped as late as June 15th in certain special cases.

The British government denies knowledge of any meat cargoes spoiling while in lighters or in warehouses. The United States government has been informed that the cargoes of meat packers will be tried before the prize court June 7th.

NOVEL PLEA IN BEHALF OF LEO M. FRANK MADE.

Episcopal Minister Writes Never "Man Nor Beast Strangled by a Jew."

San Diego, Cal., May 26.—"Neither man nor beast has ever been known to have been strangled by a Jew," says a letter written to the Governor of Georgia by the Rev. Alfred K. Glover, rector of St. James' Episcopal church here, and made public today. The letter urges that Leo M. Frank probably is innocent of the murder of Mary Phagan.

"The Jewish law and custom that compels under pain of sin the drawing of life blood of all animals to be slaughtered has also unconsciously applied from the time of Moses to the present to the criminal act of Jewish murderers as a kind of second nature," the letter asserts.

The writer is said to be a recognized authority on laws and customs of the Jews.

CHRISTIAN ENBASSY TO JAPAN PUBLISH REPORT

Whether that role shall be 'one of peace, good will and mutual co-operation or one controlled by increasing suspicion and fear between the Eeast and the West will depend largely on the attitude of the Western nations themselves."

The report recommends that chambers of commerce, labor councils and other organizations "be urged to turn their attention to the gravity of ignorance and misunderstanding with regard to Japan and consequent unjustified suspicions," and that "peace workers, and members of peace societies be urged to regard the establishment in America of the right of treatment of Asiatics and right legislation dealing with them as an immediately practical question before us for the establishment of permanent world peace."

E. C. DUNCAN IN CRITICAL CONDITION IN NEW YORK

Operation for Apepndicitis Shows Gangrene Had Set In—Friends Anxious.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., May 26.—There is much anxiety here about the condition of E. C. Duncan, prominent business man and much talked of as next Republican candidate for governor. He underwent an operation for appendicitis last night in New York and progressive gangrene was found to have set in. Reports today indicated improvement.

Alexander Webb, who hurried to him ahead of the members of his family, wired this evening that he had seen him and physicians thought there was a chance for recovery if no further complications developed. Mr. Duncan had gone to New York on business for the Merchants bank, of which he is president. His condition is critical.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1915

Yesterday was a great day for Wilmington and New Hanover.

The mania of Roumania seems not yet to have developed into mania for war.

It is now said that the Roosevelt dam is a failure. At the same time no dam failure will discourage Teddy in the least.

Some people cannot possibly distinguish between the impossible and the probable and between the improbable and the possible.

All those belligerents accuse America of violating neutrality. They can't prove any such thing on our neutrality. It can prove an alibi.

"My kingdom for a horse," if the foot dragoons are coming. My kingdom for a motor car if the horse marines are hurrying on the trail.

Uncle Sam has sent notes to three of the belligerents, but all act as if they propose to play entirely by ear, or by air, whichever it is.

If you should order war material from a neutral manufacturer, his price would convince you that he was aiding and abetting the enemy by holding you up.

A man says he knows he has one true friend because he helped him to cry when his bereavement came and rejoiced when he was married the second time.

We have to judge all reform measures by the dimensions of the consciences of the people rather than by the length to which they can be driven by the law.

It is stated that grape juice has its virtue, but we know fellows who are satisfied that it consists entirely in having the best of it in color when matched against circus lemonade.

The Macon Telegraph queries as follows: "What's the best thing to do when you are sneaking in home after daylight and step on the cat?" Put the blame on the cat for waking up your wife.

Austria said she was surprised at Italy's declaration of war. Italy also was surprised that Austria hit the first blow without waiting to be surprised by the Italian army. We doubt whether either was surprised.

When the crisis for France came all parties got behind the government in behalf of France. It remains to be seen whether Republicans will get behind the Democratic government and stay too far behind to give it their support.

They can all make out like they are down on the political bosses, but Murphy has seen the day that candidates of either party who could have won his hearty support would have been perfectly willing to joyously greet him as "Murph."

"Everything comes to him who waits," the quoter of aphorisms remarked. "Yes," agreed a man who believes in acknowledging the corn. "Hobson's choice finally is that of everybody when the navy is under consideration."

The Jacksonville Times-Union says: "Perhaps Mr. Bryan drinks grape juice because he likes it." Since there can be no dispute concerning taste, it is purely a personal matter with Colonel Bryan if he can succeed in fooling himself with a drink that is absolutely tangless.

There is always more safety for a nation or a man in keeping the peace with a near neighbor. When one goes on the war path he has to look in every bush for an enemy who also is on the job of getting somebody's goat in order to keep them from getting his. It takes two to have a row, in which there are all sorts of possibilities.

SECRETARY DANIELS IN WILMINGTON

Wilmington was glad of the opportunity to honor the Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, who honored the city with his presence yesterday on account of New Hanover's first county commencement, which embraced the closing exercises of the city schools as well as those of the rural districts. Mr. Daniels and Dr. J. Y. Joyner, the masterful and popular State Superintendent of Public Instruction, were the principal speakers of the occasion. The Secretary of the Navy tore himself away from his pressing official duties in Washington to speak to the people of this community, and they heard him with great interest and profit.

The distinguished North Carolina member of President Wilson's cabinet received a most cordial and loyal greeting by Wilmington people, for they have longed to do honor to him on account of his own achievement as well as because of his intimate association with the administration of President Wilson, formerly of Wilmington. Secretary Daniels' visit fitted in well with Wilmingtons' plan to get him here so this city could show its appreciation of him and to give President Wilson to understand that North Carolinians agree with him in the estimate he places upon this State's distinguished son.

North Carolinians are perfectly satisfied with Mr. Daniels' handling of the navy, for they know that his aim is to do everything in his power for the efficiency, morale, and upbuilding of the navy. He has the confidence of his home people, and little side remarks by partisan politicians during the last few months have had no effect whatsoever here, on account of their source and absurdity. However, this is but a remark by the way.

Mr. Daniels delivered a forceful and thought-provoking address at the High School yesterday afternoon, and a tremendous throng was there to hear his inspiring message. There is no need of repeating any part of his address here, for elsewhere in The Star this morning may be read a synopsis of his message, giving it in part as he delivered it. No man is betttr qualified than Mr. Daniels to speak to North Carolinians, for he is one of the "true blues" himself and is imbued with and inspired by the traditons and history and greatness of his native State. He is proud of North Carolina's history and especially that of the Cape Fear section, with which he is familiar, and of which he is prepared to speak in terms of eloquence and patriotic pride.

The people of Wilmington are deeply sensible of the honor paid to North Carolina by President Wilson in choosing one of her leading Democrats as a member of his cabinet. No incident of Secretary Daniels' appearance before a large and representative gathering of our Cape Fear people was more pleasing than the message he delivered from President Wilson for the people of the city of his boyhood days. The President's remembrance of Wilmington, so beautifully expressed, brought a sense of pride to Wilmingtonians, many of whom knew Woodrow Wilson, the boy, and stand by him as President.

DANGEROUS BUT NECESSARY.

Even if some inventions are dangerous, we have to stand for them if they are necessary. Therefore, we philosophically submit to two Edison and Marconi inventions that are fraught with all sorts of usefulness and devilry. Detectives can tree folks because they have two eyes and sneak around as if they were honest and harmless tramps, but that is no reason why people should be opposed to detectives with eyes to see crooked business and crooked politics going around over the country as pals.

Edison, now 68 years of age, has announced another one of his wonderful inventions. He calls it the "telescribe", which is a combination telephone and phonograph by which telephone conversations may be automatically recorded as they are spoken and subsequently repeated by the phonograph part of the contraption. It would be especially useful in recording long-distance messages and also to place on any telephone so the exact words of a business conversation may be recorded.

Strictly business men won't have any fear of the telescribe, but men who use a whole lot of slack jaw and flubdub over the telephone have a right to view the telescribe with mixed feelings of alarm and consternation. The chitchat and silly nothings of lovers at both ends of the wire can go into the records and, of course, they will regard the telescribe just as they would an eves-dropper with a face like a screech owl. A whole lot of other people also will have to "send word" instead of talking over the telephone.

The telescribe will get you if you indulge in idle words and Smart Alec talk. No wire conversation would be strictly private if some old curiosity shop would slip a telescribe into the telephone on the sly. Of course, you can see the possibilities of both usefulness and mischief in the telescribe, but even if electricity does kill people now and then the world has to have it. It will also take to the telescribe and take chances on whatever trouble it is going to cause.

Before leaving for Italy a few days ago to take a hand in the war, Marconi stated that he regretted to report that he had invented a device by which one could look through a brick wall or a partition in a house, or get a glimpse of things through a closed door. He declared that he hesitates to patent this modern mechanical "peeping Tom", but, of course, he will have to yield to the world's demand. The world wants to see everything that is going on anyhow, and there are a whole lot of secret things it should see in order to set things to rights. However, thieves and burglars could stand on the outside of a house and see where a girl puts her engagement ring, or note where some old tightwad secretes a cigar box containing money that he should put in the bank. Even so, this new Marconi invention has to come, for we need it in our business. We are for it, anyhow, for a blind man could catch up with us if we'd even get familiar with the Russian language.

The world had to put up with the dictaphone, although a smart lawyer could be depended on to prove that a dictaphone can be made to lie like Munchausen or be just as tricky and foxy as Machiavelli. Nevertheless, a dictaphone can tell either the truth or whatever kind of a lie is needed by an unscrupulous detective. It has its uses and is valuable. So will Edison's and Marconi's new inventions have to be accepted. The world wants everything wide open and must have it.

PORTS INVULNERABLE

People with very poor ideas of the difficulties of invading a strong country like this are creating a scare by holding out the idea that the ports of the United States are in a helpless condition in the event of a foreign attack for the purpose of invading our Republic. Probably military and naval men abroad laugh at the ideas of those people who are endeavoring to alarm the country about the possibilities of an invasion.

We need a larger naval equipment, but not to prevent an invasion. We could take care of an invasion all right, but our difficulty would be in taking care of ourselves at sea where we could not use an army. Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, and a most distinguished engineer of the army, has come to the front to call some of the know-nothings down as to the vulnerability of American ports.

"The so-called superiority of naval armament compared to seacoast fortifications," said Gen. Goethals, "and the much talked of ability of war-fleets to penetrate these defenses, is all bosh." Gen. Goethals continued:

"When I read in the papers about the probability of a fleet forcing its way past three strongholds, I get red hot, because I know that it is an impossibility. There's no naval fleet in the world today that can force a strong and properly constructed seacoast fortification. The Japanese fleet was unable to force Port Arthur; the American fleet could not enter Santiago; the British fleet at present is hammering away at the Dardanelles, and it remains to be seen if it will force the fortifications. Fortifications are built to withstand atack, and they are built to remain standing. Fleets that attack them successfully will be compelled to land forces and strike them from some point inland. This is what happened to the American fleet at Santiago. The fortifications in the United States are all right; they have been built properly and are among the best to be found."

Some people do not seem to think that an army capable of invading America would have to come across in thousands of transports all at once and land all at once in order to make an invasion anything but the sheerest nonsense. The Charlotte Observer sees how it is and agrees with General Goethals.

"We see in The Philadelphia Record," says the Observer, "that Colonel Goethals has considered it worth while to give some attention to the matter and he comes forward with the assurance that no fleet can demolish strong forts. He says the Japanese fleet could not reduce Port Arthur nor could the American fleet take Santiago. No fleet, He says the Japanese fleet could not or San Francisco, and on our own hook we might interpret that the fleet has not been assembled, nor could a fleet be assembled, that could pass into the Cape Fear at Southport."

DEMONSTRATING THE STATE'S RESOURCES

Western North Carolina is going to vie with Eastern North Carolina in waking up to her matchless resources, but we must not let her vie too much. This is a state of the most varied resources and all over the State we are waking up to that fact. Those resources are so inconceivable that they have to undergo practical demonstration, but that is being done along many lines. For instance, here is an interesting reference in the Lincoln County News to a demonstration furnished by one of the intelligent men of the western porton of the State:

"Dr. R. B. Killian was in town Saturday. He was making arrangements for a visit to his farm in Watauga county. In conversation with a News man about his Lincoln farm he said wheat was looking fine, his large herd of beef cattle were fat, and that he had a splendid crop of hay on the way. He said if nothing turns up to retard his crop of hay that he would reap 100 tons of fine hay. That is an evidence of the adaptability of Lincoln soil to cattle and grain raising. Dr. Killian should be one of the number to place some Lincoln products on exhibit at the State fair this year. Several should join in and make the outside world take a look at what Lincoln soil will do."

The intelligent reader can see the point made in the foregoing without having it emphasized. We can make our State absolutely independent as to growing hay and grain and producing our own cattle and beef. The reason why we should convince ourselves about that now is that we ought to go to work and do it now. We have all the adaptabilites for all branches of agricultural industry, and we should profit by them without waiting at all. Pioneers like Dr. Killian are proving what can be done in Western North Carolina as well as in the garden spot region in the eastern part of the State.

When we demonstrate the State's resources and publish something about it, we are giving the State the best advertising it can get.

CANNING FACTORY NEEDED —A PROPOSITION

To the Editor of The Star:

I have read with great interest your article in Monday's issue on the canning business and the great loss of fruit in this section for the want of some way to care for it. The loss to our farmers the year round for years has been enormous, both in fruit and vegetables. You have been hammering away on this subject, and it does look like some one would get interested.

Wilmington is certainly one of the best situated points for a business of this kind in North Carolina. With rail and water transportation, our people for 50 miles in every direction are within three hours of the market. I don't know anything about the canning business; I do know a great deal about the fruit and truck business. If the canning business pays in other cities, why not in Wilmington? No city has cheaper transportation to or from a market or cheaper labor. Certainly there would be no fear of lack of raw material with our climate and soil. This would be as near an all the year round business as any. If any one interested in this business will take the trouble to visit the truck farms in New Hanover, Pender, Bladen and Brunswick—and as for fruit, for an area of 50 miles around Wilmington—he will find the finest fruit growing section in the United States.

Our soil and climate are especially adapted to fruit growing. I had the honor at one time of being the president of the North Carolina Fruit Growers' Association. We held our first fair at Greensboro; the next at Wilmington. Greensboro was in the heart of the fruit growing section, or was supposed to be, and naturally our eastern people were a little nervous for fear, we could not come up to the standard, but fortunately we had a man in the mayor's office—that gallant old soldier, Capt. Ned Hall—who knew no such word as fail. We had the fair and hundreds of the fruit growers from the middle and western parts of the State came down with their best fruit. They were surprised and amazed when they saw what we could produce and more so when the committee reported, to find that New Hanover took the premium for the best peaches, that Sampson took the premium for the best pears, Mr. Howard, from the Sound, for peaches and Major Charles W. McClammy for cantaloupes and watermelons, one lot averaging 80 pounds each. Remember, this was against the whole State. I have the report on file and have always felt proud of it. The publication of this report would surprise many Wilmingtonians.

Now let's see if you can't induce some one to become interested in canning. You have made a fair statement as to strawberries. The huckleberry crop will narly equal that. It would be hard to estimate the peach and pear crop this year. It will be a bumper and go to waste as it did last year. Thousands and thousands of dollars lost for lack of a market, and all could be saved if a canning factory was in reach! Some few years ago I set seven acres in Keifer pears. It would be safe to say that last year I lost $500 for want of a market, and I suppose others did likewise.

If you can find a competent man who would undertake a stock company for this business, I stand ready to put in $1,000.

CURRENT COMMENT.

One branch of the Legislature of Pennsylvania and the senate of Tennessee have passed resolutions praying the governor of Georgia to commute the sentence of Leo Frank. Thus are tender hearts betokened. After all, there is nothing with which a state legislature may not meddle. Resolutions of the Tennessee senate and the Pennsylvania house of representatives praying the Sultan of Turkey to surrender the Dardanelles to the Allies ought to be passed. There is nothing within our range of vision at this time so reprehensible as the refusal of the terrible Turks to be whipped. The neglect of duty of state legislatures is answerable no doubt for this Moslem obstinacy.—Columbia State.

It is to be hoped that a thorough investigation will be made of that Wadesboro silk mill to determine if in fact a large number of its employes have died of tuberculosis. Mill men have been successful in preventing inspection of their property by state agents, but the time is coming when sentiment will be strong enough to overcome their influence in the legislature. If reports reaching the state board of health with regard to the number of cases of tuberculosis at the Wadesboro mill are shown to be true, the sooner something is done the better.—Raleigh Times.

"Just the one box of Foley Kidney Pills relieved my backache.—J. W. Etris, Etris, Ga.

"Last year I was suffering with a terrible backache," writes J. W. Etris of Etris, Ga. "Every time I'd lean or stoop over or to one side, I'd have a painful catch in my back just over my kidneys. I tried medicines with no good results. I bought a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills, and just the one box entirely relieved my backache. It has been some time since I took them, so I think I am well."

Weakened, overworked, stopped-up kidneys cause stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatism, sleep disturbing bladder ailments, biliousness and various other ills. Foley Kidney Pills are a scientific medicine, compounded to clear the kidneys and restore them to healthy action by dissolving and driving out of the system the waste products and poisons that cause kidney trouble and bladder ailments. HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES END NOTABLE DAY

Dr. J. Y. Joyner Delivered an Eloquent and Inspiring Address to Class.

OPERA HOUSE CROWDED

Scholarships and Medals Awarded Last Evening—Dr. Joyner Paid High Tribute to Educational Progress in New Hanover.

Before an audience that filled every seat in the Academy of Music and overflowed into the aisles and around the walls, and to a class of 38 of Wilmington's brightest boys and girls, Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, delivered an eloquent and inspiring address last night when the graduation exercises of the High School brought to a close probably the most notable day in the educational history of Eastern North Carolina.

Following Dr. Joyner's address, Mr. John J. Blair, city superintendent of schools, presented the members of the graduating class with their diplomas, and wished them God-speed on the journey of life. This was followed by the presentation of scholarships and medals and the reading of the grand honor roll for the year. Scholarships and medals were awarded as follows:

Amy Bradley Medal—Mary Claire Peterson.

University of North Carolina Scholarship—Chas. Hazlehurst.

Washington & Lee University Scholarship—Stuart Warren.

Trinity College Scholarship—Eugene Craft.

German American Alliance Medal—Gladys Price.

The prize offered by North Carolina Sorosis for the most attractive graduation dress the material for which did not cost over $2.50, was awarded by the judges to Miss Mary Claire Peterson.

The exercises last evening opened with an invocation by Rev. Dr. A. D. McClure, following which Superintendent Blair formally presented the graduating class to the audience and introduced J. O. Carr, Esq., chairman of the Board of Education, who introduced Dr. Joyner.

In his remarks, Mr. Carr mentioned a few facts in connection with the progress along educational lines in Wilmington and New Hanover county, thanking the people of the city and county for their interest and co-operation in the past, by which this progress had been made possible, and asking for a continuation of this interest and co-operation to the end that the educational system might be brought up to the maximum of human efficiency.

The speaker for the evening, he said, did not know until the previous evening that he would be called upon to deliver the address to the class, but he felt sure that he would prove more than equal to the occasion, even without notice sufficient for preparation. For 12 years or more, he said, Dr. Joyner had been laboring unceasingly and untiringly for the cause of education in North Carolina, and the educational progress of the State was due, Mr. Carr declared, more to the efforts of Dr. Joyner and to the ideas put into effect by him, than to any other one factor. It was a pleasure, he said, to present one than whom no man in the South had done more for the education of the masses, Hon. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

In beginning his remarks, Dr. Joyner said that any man might well deem it an honor to address such an audience. He sympathized with his hearers, because they had been denied the opportunity of hearing one of the State's most brilliant sons, Dr. Edward Kidder Graham, president of the University, who had been invited to deliver the address, but who could not attend, and he sympathized with himself because he had had no time to prepare a speech.

But he felt that the people of Wilmington and New Hanover county had a right to hear a word of encouragement for their support of public education, and he could not say nay when asked to speak this word.

"What shall I say to you?" asked Dr. Joyner. "You who need so little to hear the things that I have so long said to the people of this State, from the mountains to the sea.

"I am always glad to come to this beautiful capitol of this great Cape Fear section. I gather inspiration at every visit. And I have gathered most of all today."

The people of the Cape Fear section, said the speaker, have a priceless heritage handed down to them in the history and traditions of their forefathers, and in this heritage is founded a nameless, intangible atmosphere—a community soul and spirit that dominates and permeates those who dwell therein—a soul and spirit that has in it something of pride, and something of gentleness, and something of culture.

"I felt this atmosphere this morning in the spirit that animated that great audience of men and women at the High School," declared Dr. Joyner. "I felt it and saw it in those 4,000 or more little children who marched in parade—in the pride, and power and confidence written on their bright little faces, and in the exquisite gentleness of their behavior. I saw it and felt it at the play on the High School campus Tuesday night, and I see it and feel its presence here tonight.

"I had the pleasure today of visiting all your new school buildings, and I am weighing my words when I say that nowhere else in North Carolina have I found buildings so modern, so beautiful, so sanitary and so thoroughly up to date. Some body has been doing some good work, and a great people has been standing behind those who have been doing this work. And I am glad to see it. The children of Wilmington, capitol of the Cape Fear, with a past like yours behind them, with a future like yours before them, deserve the best schools that a great community can give them. It is not extravagance, it is wisdom and justice to provide them. In this you have set an example to the whole State, and I congratulate you."

Dr. Joyner feelingly referred to the early days here, just after the war, when, like the rest of the State, the people dwelt in the ashes of poverty and the public schools were utterly inadequate. It was then he said that there came a missionary, with a love of childhood in a woman's heart. Amy

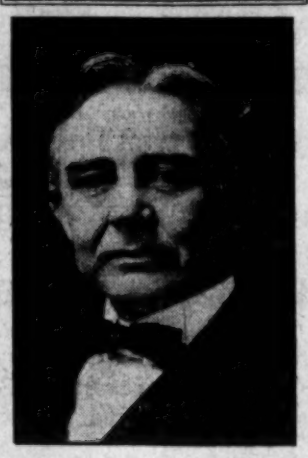
DR. J. Y. JOYNER



"It is the divine right of every child born into this world, rich or poor, black or white, to have the best possible chance to develop every power within him. And, by the grace of God, here in North Carolina he shall yet have that chance. I thank God that you are already giving it to him here in Wilmington and New Hanover county," declared Dr. Joyner in his address at the Academy last night.

THE PAN-AMERICAN UNION

Important Business Conferences of Representative Financiers in Washington—Mr. McQueen Attends.

Mr. H. C. McQueen, president of the Murchison National Bank, this city, has been in Washington, D. C., the early days of the present week attending as a representative of Wilmington and North Carolina, the great Pan-American Financial Conference and as noted in the special dispatches from Washington yesterday was appointed a member of the Salvador conference committee.

The conference was opened by President Wilson, the delegates of eighteen American Republics participating. The sessions were divided between the Pan-American Union building and the Shoreham Hotel with a luncheon by William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, as one of the social features.

In the morning of the second day, Charles S. Hamlin, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, and Paul M. Warburg, member of the Federal Reserve Board, delivered addresses, which were responded to by the delegates and American business men, at the Pan-American Union building. In the afternoon the "group conferences" began at the Shoreham Hotel, and in these the real work of the conference was done. An announcement printed in Washington papers shows the program of Salvador, and it is noted that that country wants a branch bank established there by American financiers. The details of the programs of other countries were developed in the conferences during the afternoon.

Mr. McQueen was a member of the Salvador conference committee and with other of the country's leading business men went into the commercial relations of the Pan-American countries, which are destined to large development as a consequence of the present almost world-wide war. Referring to these conferences the Washington Star, in its report of the proceedings, said:

"Delegates and United States guests got down to business in 12 conference rooms at the Shoreham Hotel, with strict privacy, to talk on matters concerning the most stupendous business deal ever attempted since the world began. The mental attitude of the business men and delegates in these confidential talks was one of 'coats off and sleeves rolled up.' They left their parlor manners behind at the Pan-American Union and went into session to talk shop.

"Gigantic as some of the railroad and mine and oil deals of this country have been, the groups which got together today for the real business of the conference matched the markets of one continent against the buying power of the other, and their price marks were written in billions.

"Following the suggestions of two influential delegates, the general conference discussions today were divided into two main heads, under which several phases of the trade situation were considered as locality needs required. The two big subjects in the heart-to-heart talks were general financing and the great and urgent need for steamships plying the trade routes of this hemisphere.

"How great is the financing discussed today indicated by the new words which Frank Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, said in a talk to the delegates. He had not prepared his speech; in fact, he had not the slightest idea that Secretary McAdoo, acting as chairman, was to ask him for a suggestion. He met the Secretary's request 'for a few words,' with the naive and yet stupendous reply that he believed the United States could not only take care of its own investments and financial undertakings, but could probably take care of all South America, too.

"This was listened to with genuine attention by the South American delegates, whose countries have found their financing muddled beyond description by the European war. The practical question they brought was: 'Can we get money?' Delegates today believe the president of one of the world's greatest banks has answered 'yes'."

ANNUAL MEETING HELD BY SCHOOL OFFICERS

County Superintendents Are Entertained at Luncheon.

Domestic Science Class of High School Gives Dinner in Their Honor. Conference Continues Today. Automobile Ride.

The annual meeting of the county superintendent and high school teachers of the Southeastern district, composed of 20 counties, is being held in this city. The first meeting was held yesterday morning in the parlors of the Orton Hotel, but lasted only a few minutes, the remainder of the day having been given over to the New Hanover county school commencement and an inspection trip during the afternoon to some of the principal rural schools. The meeting will continue through today, sessions being scheduled for both this morning and this afternoon at the High School building.

Dr. J. Y. Joyner, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who was here yesterday for the commencement, will attend the meeting today. Others from the State Department who are here for the meeting are Prof. N. C. Newbold, assistant State superintendent; Prof. L. C. Brogden, superintendent of the State elementary schools, and Mr. A. S. Brower, of the statistical department.

Immediately after the address by Secretary Daniels yesterday the members of the association were entertained at a delightful five course luncheon in the school building by the members of the domestic science department. These young ladies have done most excellent work during the past year under the direction of Miss Grace Logan. The dinner was thoroughly enjoyed by all and Prof. Washington Catlett, who acted as master of ceremonies, announced that he would be glad to award diplomas to each and every member of the class on the basis of the splendid dinner they had prepared.

On motion of Mr. W. M. Thompson, of Richlands, president of the association, a rising vote of thanks was tendered the young ladies for their kindness.

Following is the menu:

Strawberry Mounds
Tomato Bisque Croutons
Olives Radishes Celery
Fried Spring Chicken
New Potatoes Creamed Asparagus
Hot Rolls
Tomato and Cheese Salad
Mayonaise Dressing Cheese Straws
Fruit Ice Cream Cake
Salted Almonds Coffee

Dr. Joyner was unable to attend the luncheon on account of another engagement, but was able to look in for just a moment. At the suggestion of Professor Catlett, who proposed the toast, the guests drank pure cold water to the following words:

"Our Chief—A distinguished educator among educators; a progressive leader among leaders; a ripe scholar among scholars; an official, honest and capable; a friend, faithful and true to his friends. May he long guide the footsteps of our children."

Dr. Joyner responded to this toast with graceful words of appreciation and declared that it had been his constant endeavor to prove himself worthy of the office he holds.

Following the luncheon the superintendents were taken for an automobile ride by Professor Catlett. They visited the schools on the Masonboro loop and returned via the Wrightsville and Seagate schools. They also visited the Winter Park and Delgado schools. The visitors were especially impressed with the sanitary arrangements of these schools.

Springer, president of the company, with the Barrett Manufacturing Company, of Philadelphia, for 11,000 gallons.

Dr. Mendelsohn Writes Paper.

Rev. Dr. S. Mendelsohn, rabbi of the Temple of Israel, contributes an interesting paper in the May number of the Charlotte Medical Journal on "The Arterial Function and the Circulation in Ancient Rabbinic Literature." He quotes extensively from the sacred writings of the Jews and shows that beyond question the function of the arteries as avenues for the circulation of the blood was well known to the Rabbis in Palestine at least 1,400 years prior to the time of William Harvey, who is generally credited with having discovered the knowledge of the fact that the blood circulates.

Germs Can't Stay With This Treatment

No Impurities Can Retain A Foothold—They're Driven Out.

The action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is direct from the moment it enters the stomach. Unlike food that must be acted upon by the digestive juices, S. S. S. goes at once into the blood, and in less than five minutes has traversed the entire circulation.

It now rapidly spreads its medicinal action in the fine network of blood vessels and is like giving the blood a thorough bath, to overcome eczema, blood risings, boils and other eruptive conditions. It can not harm any part of the system. It does not lodge in the joints as do mercury, arsenic and other minerals frequently to be found in blood remedies. It is a natural medicine for the blood, just as essential to health if germs have gotten the upper hand as is nutritious food if after a spell of sickness the body calls for nourishment. Wherever you go you are sure to meet some one who used S. S. S. for the blood and is a willing witness to its wonderful power to overcome blood troubles. You can obtain S. S. S. in almost any drug store in the U. S., a significant fact as to its worth and its sterling reputation. Get a bottle today. It will do you good. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 104 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., if the directions with the bottle do not fully cover your case.

Migraine or Sick Headache

Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two Anti-kamnia Tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one Anti-kamnia Tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet.

Anti-kamnia may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all pain.

MATCH RESULTED IN DRAW

Cunningham and Herbert Each Secured One Fall Last Night—Another Bout Next Week.

A fast wrestling match between Johnny Cunningham, of this city, and George Herbert, of Virginia, featherweight champion of the world, staged at Cunningham's Club, on the third floor of the Woolvin building last evening and witnessed by a large and enthusiastic gathering of sport fans, resulted in a draw, each man securing one fall.

Herbert secured the first fall in 15 minutes, using a toe hold which caused Cunningham considerable pain. The wrestlers came back for the second fall, and after about ten minutes of work, Herbert's head struck one of the corner posts when Cunningham rushed him. Herbert was knocked out for about five minutes, but after he revived the match was continued. Cunningham soon secured an arm lock and won the second fall.

Herbert was so weak from the effects of the blow received when his head struck the post that the referee, Mr. Chas. Dushan, stopped the match, declaring it a draw.

The wrestling match was preceded by several other athletic contests and exhibitions.

It was stated after the match last night that Cunningham and Herbert will probably be matched for another bout next week.

A state biological survey, suggested by the Ohio Academy of Science, is being undertaken with a state appropriation of $2,500; a number of the colleges of the state ar eco-operating. The preparation of duplicate material and separate collections for the colleges and other educational institutions is the primary feature of the work.

SHORT SESSION OF COUNCIL

Little Business Transacted at Weekly Meeting Yesterday—Recessed Until Tomorrow.

Beyond hearing several requests to reconsider items in the new tax schedule and considering several other matters of minor importance, City Council transacted little business at the weekly meeting yesterday morning, the session lasting only half an hour. Mayor Moore was absent, attending the school exercises, and Mayor Pro-Tem Merritt was out of the city. Councilman W. F. Jones acted as mayor for the meeting yesterday.

The budget was not considered yesterday morning, but as the meeting was the last regular session for the present fiscal year, Council did not adjourn, but took a recess until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. In the meantime, another conference is to be held tonight, and the budget will probably be whipped into shape at this conference, so as to be ready for adoption tomorrow morning.

Woodus Kellum, Esq., appeared before Council yesterday to ask that the tax of $10 per quarter on each pool and billiard table be reduced. He pointed out that the former State tax of $50 a year, imposed at a time when pool and billiard parlors were closely associated with the illegal sale of intoxicant liquors, had been reduced by the last Legislature to $25 a year, now that the cause for the higher tax had been eliminated, and he thought the city should follow the example of the State and reduce its license tax. He suggested a tax of $10 a quarter on the first table, and $5 on each additional table. Council took his request under consideration.

Burke H. Bridgers, Esq., agent for the Bridgers estate, controlling the Carolina Heights development, was present and stated that he had intended to take up with Council the matter of the city's taking over the water and sewerage system at Carolina Heights. However, as several members were absent he would not go into the matter in detail. He merely requested that Council take it under consideration in arranging the budget for the forthcoming fiscal year. He thought the city was morally bound to take over the utilities, now that the city limits have been extended to include Carolina Heights. He knew that the city had extended lines through Carolina Court and Greenfield Terrace before these developments were taken into the city limits, and he understood also that lines had been laid in Manhattan and the Bronx before they became a part of the city. He mentioned also that the city is getting all the revenue from the privately owned water system at Carolina Heights, and has been for several years.

Mr. E. W. Haselden, local agent of the Standard Oil Company, was before Council with reference to a new provision in the tax schedule for the coming year, requiring a license tax of $10 a quarter on tank wagons or tank trucks propelled by gasoline, electricity or horsepower. Mr. Haselden thought this was unfair to his company, which pays, he pointed out, $3,500 in city taxes every year. He thought also that it might be in opposition to the State law regulating the taxing of oil companies.

City Attorney Robert Ruark informed Council that while the State law provided that no city shall levy a license tax of more than $10 on any oil company, he did not think the provision in question would come under this head, as it levied a tax on tank wagons or trucks, and not on the company or business itself.

Council appeared to be of the opinion that the tax should stand, though Councilman McCaig and other members informed Mr. Haselden that they would be glad to hear from him further on the matter at any time.

NURSES ARE GIVEN OUTING

State Association Will Conclude Its Sessions Today—Report of Dunnwyche Made.

Following a busy day spent in discussions of matters relating to their profession, the visitors attending the convention of the N. C. Nurses' Association were given an enjoyable outing down the Cape Fear river late yesterday afternoon. Capt. J. W. Harper, owner of the steamer Wilmington, with his usual cordial hospitality, extended to the nurses a ride on his boat and they left the city at 5:45 o'clock, returning about 8 o'clock. Luncheon on board the vessel was served by the Wilmington nurses. It was a most enjoyable occasion.

The meeting will adjourn tonight after having been in session for three days. Officers will be elected this afternoon.

One of the interesting features of yesterday's meeting was the report of DunnWyche, the mountain home for sick and disabled nurses, which was established in 1913. The home is a two-story structure with nine bedrooms, living room, dining room, kitchin, pantries, two halls, two baths and is surrounded on two sides by wide porches. The home was designed primarily for the care of tuberculosis sick at a moderate cost.

Dr. I. J. Archer, one of the State recognized specialists for tuberculosis, is physician at the home, his charges being free to nurses and merely nominal to non-nurse guests. The site was donated through the kindly interest of Dr. Archer.

The home averages about four nurses as a rule. The board of managers is composed of a nurse from each local nursing organization. The home has recently had improvements made costing in the neighborhood of $1,000. The household machinery requires three paid workers—the matron, maid and a man servant, representing an outlay of about $70 monthly.

"Now, what we need and must have to insure success and permanency," the report concludes, "is an endowment—a certain income to tide over months when the home falls off in numbers, when nurses find it impossible to raise funds for even the very nominal cost of living there, which has been the case this spring; for it is on this that the home has to depend for its support."

Justice Harriss yesterday after hearing the evidence in the case against Lenox Sterne, the young man charged with conspiracy to blackmail and attempting to secure money through prosecution in the court, found probable cause and he will have a hearing before the Recorder this morning. The case against Ben Morriss, charged with being implicated in the same case, was nol prossed, there being no evidence to support the charge.

BREAK PARTLY RECOVERED

Nebraskan Incident Affects Market —Rather Sharp Break Almost Overcome in Market.

New York, May 26.—Rather a sharp early break in the cotton market was partly recovered today with the close steady at a net decline of 1 to 5 points. The opening was 3 to 7 points lower in response to easier Liverpool cables and reports that the Nebraskan had either been torpedoed or had struck a mine, seemed to create apprehensions of further political complications and probably served to restrict demand, while prices eased off under Liverpool, New Orleans, Western and scattered local selling. After the close of Liverpool the pressure was less active and the market steadied around 9.60 for October, but buying power was limited and trading remained quiet during the late session. Last prices showed rallies of 6 or 7 points from the lowest. The weekly report of the weather bureau read about as expected.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to local pressure and some further hedge-selling against held cotton while later in the day advices were received to the effect that labor trouble were developing in Lancashire which might result in a lockout. This probably tended to check buying on the afternoon rally.

Cotton futures closed steady.

The market was on the downward trend, and had lost half a dozen points when the Nebraskan news was received. For a short time there was heavy trading and the ring was excited. STOCKS DULL AND HEAVY Accident to the Nebraskan Causes Sharp Setback in Values Which Was Only Partly Recovered.

New York, May 26.—That the stock market remains almost entirely under the influence of war developments was again clearly demonstrated today. Cables telling of an accident to an American freighter off the Irish coast resulting in the exulosion of a mine or torpedo, served as a grim reminder of the Lusitania episode and were sufficient to give prices a sharp setback, from which they made only partial recovery. Quite apart from this incident, however, the market was dull and heavy.

New orders for railroad equipment together with authoritative statements that steel mills are maintaining their recent high rate of production imparted some steadiness to the shares of the steel companies. Bonds irregular with continued selling of low priced issues. Total sales par value aggregated $1,735,000. Panama coupons 2s declined 7-8 per cent. on call.

OF CAROLINA COLLEGE

Board of Trustees Hold Annual Meeting at Maxton.

Maxton, N. C., May 26.—On Monday evening, May 17, at 8 o'clock, the board of trustees of Carolina College held its regular annual meeting in the president's office. The attendance was the largest and most enthusiastic in the history of this worthy institution. The report of the president showed that notwithstanding the financial depression, caused by the European war, that the liabilities are less and the assets greater than when the present school year began. The school year from every view point has been one of success. The faculty for another year will remain substantially the same. By recommendation of President Mercer, Prof. A. M. Norton, head of the department of English, was elected dean of the faculty.

President Mercer recommended that the two dormitories for which we now have plans and specifications, each dormitory containing 39 rooms, be built and that at least one of these dormitories be built immediately, so that it may be ready for use at the beginning of another school year. These dormitories will be modern in every respect and furnished with the most modern conveniences.

The president further recommended that the board of trustees enter upon the policy of erecting one residential building containing 8 or 10 rooms each year, where worthy young ladies who are not financially able to pay the expenses of board in the college dormitories may keep house on the co-operative system, under the supervision of a capable woman, thus securing a college education at a minimum cost. It is expected that one building of this nature will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term.

Just at the time the trustees were discussing the best methods of securing money needed for constructing the needed buildings, a committee of young ladies representing the student body came in and presented the following resolution:

"We, as representatives of the student body of Carolina College, do earnestly petition the board of trustees to have a dormitory built for the next session. We have always been loyal to our alma mater, but we can never render the best services of which we are capable until we have another building. In return for any sacrifice that may be made to do this for us, we hereby pledge ourselves to fill this dormitory with some of the best and brightest girls in the South."

This petition presented at this opportune time had a very stimulating effect upon the members of the board. Without a dissenting voice they immediately voted to sell $50,000 worth of college bonds to be used to meet the pressing needs of the college, and in order that there might be no delay in sale of these bonds, they personally guaranteed payment of interest.

Rev. S. E. Mercer was unanimously reelected by a rising vote of the trustees.

Hon. F. A. Woodard, an influential member of the board, had died during the year. His son, Graham Woodard, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by his father's death. Other new members elected to fill vacancies caused by limitation are as follows:

Leak S. Covington, Rockingham; N. C., T. O. Evans, Maxton, N. C., C. E. Weatherasby, Faison, N. C., W. O. Dixon, Hookerton J. E. Page, Aberdeen, N. C., and D. C. Regan, Lumberton N. C.

It was the unanimous verdict of the board that Carolina College has passed through its darkest days, and that a bright future is ahead of it. Within the last four years the value of the college plant has been increased more than $100,000.

The college has one of the ablest faculties of any of our Southern female colleges. The rapidly growing patronage is sufficient proof that the young women are receiving the preparation that they need for life's service.

MORE THAN 1,000 SHRINERS IN CHARGE OF GREENSBORO

Yesterday a Big Day in History of City and of the Visitors.

Greensboro, N. C., May 26.—More than 1,000 Shriners today took charge of Greensboro, upon invitation of Mayor Murphy, and both the visitors and the natives have enjoyed one of the greatest events that has been witnessed in the city in a long while. These Shriners represented Khedive, Oasis and Omar temples of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, respectively, and it was the first gathering of Shriners in the city in several years.

The day has been full of events, and the pranks that were played upon and by candidates kept everybody interested and amused. There were about 100 of the uninitiated carried across the burning sands of the desert and brought safely to the Oasis of North Carolina Shriners.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., May 26.—Search is being made for Mr. Murrill Holderby, who has hidden out for several days under the impression that he killed Walter Medlin. Last Friday, Holderby shot at Medlin, who was drunk and threatening Holderby, and the impression was that the shot was fatal. It now appears that the bullet struck a button on Medlin's trousers and with the exception of a bruised place the man is uninjured.

I. R. C. CONCLUDES HEARINGS TODAY

David Clark Denies Charges Concerning Child Labor.

SUBMITS A STATEMENT

Editor of Textile Magazine of Charlotte Tells Commission That Charges of Dr. McKelway Are False as to Child Labor.

Washington, May 26.—Labor conditions in the cotton mills of the South and in Porto Rico were before the Industrial Relations Commission today. The commission was unable to conclude its hearings tonight, according to programme, and several witnesses will be examined tomorrow, including Samuel Gompers, president, and other officers of the American Federation of Labor.

David Clark, of Charlotte, N. C., editor of a textile magazine, submitted a statement to the commission denying in detail charges concerning child labor in the South made recently by Dr. A. J. McKelway, of the National Child Labor committee. Clark filed a mass of statistics designed to controvert Dr. McKelway's assertions as to wages paid in the cotton mills.

"The testimony given by Dr. A. J. McKeyway on May 10 was very largely false and where not exactly false, was so shaped as to carry a false impression," Clark's statement said:

Clark's Statement.

"He testified that a number of employes in Southern cotton mills, including 1,085 adults, were making less than $2 per week. Pressed by Chairman Walsh, he dodged through four pages of testimony and when finally cornered said to divide the $2 or less amount by six in order to get the daily wage. McKelway has lived in the South and knows that no wage schedule of 33 1-2 cents per day has prevailed in the last 20 years. He could have taken data from the 1914 report of the Bureau of Labor, but he went back to the 1908 report.

"The 1908 report gives the wages of North Carolina mill operatives as varying from $3.87 to $6.56 per week, but there is in it a table of earnings for a certified week and in summing up the earnings for the specified week it shows that in both Northern and Southern mills there were a number who, of course, working part time during that week, earned less than $2.

"In order to give you illiteracy figures he went back even further and gave you the statistics of 1900, waving aside the 1910 statistics with the passing remark that they were slightly diffirent. If he had given you the 1914 statistics he would have shown that 87 per cent. of the mill operatives in North Carolina can read and write and that the percentage is higher in the other Southern States.

"He complains in his evidence that the Southern manufacturers do not welcome the representatives of the National Child Committee to their mills. In the first place the cotton manufacturers regard the National Child Labor Committee as a band of parasites and grafters and in the second place experience has shown that they are taking advantage of every courtesy to misrepresent and falsify conditions."

the synod, but silenced from preaching. The case was brought before the Assembly on the minister's appeal.

The reports of the narrative committee was submitted at the morning session by Rev. Newton Donaldson, D. D., of Huntingdon, W. Va., and the report of the committee on systematic beneficience by Rev. Dr. A. A. McGeachy, of Charlotte, N. C. The foreign missions report was read at the afternoon session and went over to the night meeting for discussion.

The narrative committee deals with the spiritual condition of the church and today's report again emphasized the spirit of evangelism now so evident in the Assembly. Attention also was called to the large number of additions to the church on professions of faith during the year just closed. The report was adopted.

Among the recommendations of the systematic beneficence committee were the following:

That the campaign committee on stewardship be continued, the four executive committees be urged to throw their influence in favor of the Assembly's financial plan, that all churches in the Assembly be urged to adopt this plan; that the secretaries of the four executive committees make appeals in the interest of the work they represent in all churches which have not adopted the Assembly's plan.

Prolonged discussion of the recommendation against making appeals in the churches now operating under the Assembly's plan ensued anld part of the recommendation was stricken out.

A recommendation that a secretary of education be not appointed at this time was placed on docket for discussion in connection with the report on foreign missions.

Resolve Against Liquor.

Just before adjourning tonight, the Assembly unanimously adopted the following resolution against liquor and the liquor traffic.

"As the traffic in and use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is the prolific cause of so much crime, poverty and suffering in our land and as it costs the people so much money in criminal prosecution and the support of the victims of drink, and as it is one of the greatest enemies of the 'Church of Christ', and as we are warned against its effects in I Cor. VI-10; therefore in view of these terrible effects, this General Assembly bears its testimony against this evil, and recommends to all our people the use of all legitimate means for its banishment from the land."

Since the United States took charge of the Philippines more than 3,000,000 natives have had some instruction in the English language.

TAFT DENOUNCES LEADERS OF LABOR

Also Clayton Act and Trade Commission Act.

POWER IS EXCESSIVE

Former President Approves of Labor Unions But Thinks They Have Been Allowed to Go Too Far. Reaction is Due.

New York, May 26.—Former President William H. Taft in an address tonight at the annual banquet of the National Association of Manufacturers, severely criticises the Clayton Act and the Federal Trade Commission Act, as "detrimental to the business interests of the country," and denounced the leaders of the American Federation of Labor for exercising a "power that has become excessive and detrimental to the public weal and the good of society."

Prof. Taft was co-speaker with Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, who declared that "the greatest menace of American progress is the professional baiting of big enterprises."

"I fully approve," said the former President, "of the principle of labor unions. But the power their leaders have acquired by the principle of combination in their organization has intoxicated them and they have exercised a tyranny over society and over their own members that is certainly leading to a reaction and to a restraint of their great powers within proper and lawful limits.

Where Unions Have Failed.

"They have failed to condemn in any way, as they ought, the use of criminal methods to which in a lawless spirit their representatoives at various times have seen fit to resort. They have raised large funds in the defense of men who have proven to be by their own confessions, violators of the criminal law, and they have manifested a desire to secure in express statutory declarations an immunity for labor unions from the operation of general laws that should be uniform. In other words they have sought to make themselves and their agents a privileged class not subject to the laws that affeit every other man and even themselves when not engaged in labor disputes."

Mr. Taft said his objections to the Clayton Act and the Trade Commission act were that "their enactment with such a blare of trumpets and avowals of hostility to capital in general with little discrimination had a strong tendency to frighten those whose jodgment determines the amoont of new investments of capital and thus to restrict the normal expansion of our business due to the reinvestment of earnings."

The speaker characterized the personnel of the members of the Trade Commission as "not such as to give great public confidence in their experience or judgment."

The National Association of Manufacturers today unanimously declared itself in favor of an American Mercantile Marine, adopting the following resolution:

"One of the most impressive lessons growing out of the great European war is that the United States should adopt prompt and vigorous measures to secure establishment by private enterprise of lines of American merchant steamers to principal ports of the world, in order that this country may no longer be dependent for nine-tenths of its ocean-carrying trade by foreign ships.

"The National Association of Manufacturers regard an adequate American Merchant Marine as indispensable to the full development of American commerce and this important fact should be impressed upon the American people and the Congress of the United States."

The association also adopted a resolution congratulating D. E. Loewe & Company for having obtained in the United States Supreme Court a verdict over the Danbury Hatters in the firm's boycott action. The Supreme Court affirmed recently a verdict of approximately $286,000 against members of the Hatters' Union. Another resolution tendered the Federal Trade Commission the hope of the association for a wise administration.

for any reason, in view of these circumstances would in any event be to assume a grave responsibility and to defeat them in the face of the contention of the Department of State, the Treasury and Department of Justice would be little less than usurpation. Fortunately the duty of repudiating them can by no stretch of authority rest with us, for the very statutes which we are now construng in turn recognizes their existence and binding force and declares in effect that they shall not thereby be abrogated nor in any manner affected or impaired."

TOO MUCH AND TOO LITTLE RAIN HURTS COTTON CROP

More Than Enough Beyond Mississippi River—Not Enough This Side.

Washington, May 26.—Too much rain in Oklahoma and Arkansas and too little in Mississippi, Texas and Louisiana retarded cotton somewhat during the past week, according to the National Weather and Crop Bulletin. The bulletin today says:

"Warm weather prevailed and but little rain occurred in the cotton belt during the week, except in Oklahoma and portions of the adjoining states where the rainfall was generally heavy.

"However, the soil in those portions of the belt where little rain occurred is, in most cases supplied with sufficient moisture for present needs and no harmful effects were produced, except locally in Mississippi and Southern Texas, where the late planted needs more moisture for satisfactory germination, and in Louisiana where the crop is suffering from the lack of rain.

"In Oklahoma and portions of Arkansas the soil was too wet for cultivation and the crop is becoming grassy, but in all other portions of the belt the early planted is up to a good stand and well cultivated."

Florida and Georgia together contributed 97 per cent of the quantity and value of the fuller's earth marketed in 1913.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES END NOTABLE DAY

Bradley, he said, laid the first foundation which had been added to in the later years by Noble and others.

Coming down to the present day, he said, we find another master workman, with the aid of his efficient assistants, building ever higher on this foundation. The exquisite taste of the furnishing of the school buildings, the rare judgment shown in the selection of the pictures and other decorations in the school buildings, the beautifully kept lawns and grounds, all attested to a broadening field of knowledge and culture and appreciation for the beautiful that the present superintendent and his teachers are bringing about, through the public schools.

"But there is more that you are to be congratulated upon. One of your citizens, childless himself, but with a love of childhood in his heart, has erected the first of these beautiful new buildings and dedicated it to the memory of a dead brother. Oh the beauty of a memorial like that! That is an example that is going to prove a blessed contagion in this State, and I congratulate you again on having a citizen like that. The spirit of the old Cape Fear lives yet and in all things high and holy and good she leads.

"Still more. Your school committeemen and members of the Board of Education serve voluntarily, and draw no pay. What is allowed them is turned back to the schools for some useful purpose. So far as I know there is not another example of this kind in the State.

"There is no need," said Dr. Joyner, in closing his address, "for me to plead the cause of education here tonight. I'll save that for the people who need it. And besides, this hour belongs to these bright boys and girls of the graduating class—and what a fine class it is. I congratulate you most of all on that. As an argument for education they speak for themselves, as did those little children in the parade this morning. The biggest thing in this State, in this big city and this big section is a little child, and the greatest responsibility laid upon you is to provide that child the opportunity for education. It is the divine right of every child born into this world, rich or poor, white or black, to have the best possible chance to develop every power within him. And, by the grace of God, here in North Carolina he shall yet have that chance. I thank God you are already giving it to him here in Wilmington and New Hanover county."

Dr. Joyner was greeted by frequent applause during the course of his speech, and prolonged applause followed him as he resumed his seat.

In presenting the diplomas to the members of the graduating class, Superintendent Blair referred to the many tributes paid the class by their teachers, by the public and by the big audience on hand to witness the graduation. He also referred to the fact that this in all probability was the last class to graduate from the present High School building. The members of the class are as follows:

Sophia Beery, Harry Mitchell Boon, Lila Mae Chinnis, Eugene P. C. Craft, Lyda Norman Davis, Hattie Gustine DuRant, Lillie May Catherine Duls, Jane Emerson, Nell Stuart Fennell, Frances Cornelia Foster, Mary Hargrave Hall, Charles Mortimer Hazelhurst, Mabel McMullen Hinnant, Caroline Green Holmes, Clewell Howell, Alice Layton Justice, Thomas Edison Justice, Ben Kaminsky, Mary Fore Lathrop, John Gerald Mercer, Carolyn Christine Meyland, Katherine Louise Newkirk, Mary Claire Peterson, Annie Laurie Pratt, Elise Christine Schulken, Norman Westbrook Shepard, Mattie Mabel Smith, Clarence Bear Sternberger, Lucile Sternberger, Mary Louise Stover, Rebecca Symmes, Harriet Virginia Walsh, Stuart Barringer Warren, Lewis Wilson Williams, Maud Elizabeth Willson, Harold Otto Wolfe, Emma Adelaide Worth, Bertha Louise Zoeller.

The presentation of the University of North Carolina scholarship to Mr. Chas. Hazelhurst; the Washington & Lee scholarship to Mr. Stuart Warren, and the Trinity College scholarship to Mr. Eugene Craft was by Jno. D. Bellamy, Jr., Esq., chairman of the school committee of district No. 2.

Mr. M. W. Jacobi presented the Amy Morris Bradley medal to Miss Mary Claire Peterson, who is a granddaughter of Mrs. Bradley.

Rev. F. B. Clausen made the presentation of the German-American Alliance medal to Miss Gladys Price, who is a member of the class of 1916.

Mr. A. J. Howell announced the decision of the judges and awarded to Miss Peterson the prize offered by Sorosis for the most attractive graduation dress made of material costing not more than $2.50. Mrs. Howell announced that Miss Peterson's dress cost $2.48. It was also stated by the judges that had there been a second prize it would have been awarded to Miss Maud Willson. Many comments on the beauty of the dresses worn by the girls of the graduating class were to be heard.

The reading of the grand honor roll for the year, published elsewhere today, by Superintendent Blair, and the benediction by Rev. J. D. Bundy, brought the graduation exercises to a close.

Music for the evening was furnished by the High School orchestra, and the Academy was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Grammar Schools Close.

The presentation of certificates to the Hemenway graduating class of the Eighth grade will take place this morning in the school auditorium at 11:30 o'clock and at the Union school at 10 o'clock. Promotion cards will be given this morning to those completing the work at the Cornelius Harnett and William Hooper schools.

fleet from breaking through a weak point in their line and attacking the Red transports, following behind the main Red fleet. These transports were intended to effect a foothold on the coast and maintain themselves there until reinforcements could be brought to their support.

Battle Begun.

"The advance forces came in contact soon after daylight on the 20th. Within a few hours about half of the Blue scouts had been put out of action, the most effective work against them being done by the enemy's battle cruisers, whose high speed and long range enable them to pick off the slower and weaker Blue cruisers almost at will, at the same time eluding the supporting dreadnoughts. Admiral Fletcher withdrew to the northward, using his remaining scouts to search and guard the area from which he believed the Red fleet would pass if they contemplated landing on the New England coast.

"This was, as a matter of fact, Admiral Beatty's plan, although Admiral Fletcher had not actually locat[illegible] the Red fleet. The Blue fleet succeeded in protecting this region and forcing Admiral Beatty in the end to seek an opening to the southward.

"In the meantime, Admiral Beatty was holding his main force well out to sea and following up every move of the defending fleet with his scouts. Thus the fleet was able to make every move with knowledge of the enemy's whereabouts, while the other was in the dark. When convinced that no opening was to be expected along the New England coast, Admrial Beatty turned the south and passed around the flank of the defending forces starting out at about noon of the 24th for the Chesapeake. During the night of the 24th, Admiral Fletcher left the vicinity of Cape Cod, where he had remained for three days and moved southward. News of this move almost immediately reached Admiral Beatty, who was, at that time, heading for Cape Henry, over 100 miles ahead of the Blue fleet.

"At noon on May 25th, Admiral Beatty turned back with his fleet to meet the enemy, his transports meanwhile continuing south, with an escort, to the mouth of the Chesapeake Bay. As the force which threatened the Blue fleet was decidedly more powerful than that Admiral Fletcher could bring against it, and as the submarines of the defending force were not near enough to take part in the engagement, the umpire decided that Admiral Beatty's forces could, without difficulty, seize a base in or near the Chesapeake, that the Red force had been successful in its object, and that the stategical movements were at an end."

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

MAY HAVE BEEN MINE

Captain of Vessel Reports to Owners in New York as to Explosion.

New York, May 26.—hTe American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, owners of the Nebraskan received a message today from the Nebraskan's captain, relayed by cable, in which he said the vessel had been struck by either a mine or a torpedo, and that he had turned back.

The text of the message, dated yesterday and signed by Captain John S. Greene was as follows:

"Struck either by mine or torpedo 48 miles west of Fastnet, and steaming to Liverpool. Water in lower hold. No one injured."

The Nebraskan was under charter on this trip to the White Star Line. She was built at Camden, in 1902. She is 360 feet long and was built with eight water-tight bulkheads, her fuel being oil.

SUBAMRINE IN NEIGHBORHOOD

Underwater Craft Sighted Few Miles From Shore.

Crooks,Haven, Ireland, May 26.—It was learned today that a submarine was seen last night off the southern coast of Ireland. She was sighted shortly after 9 p. m. near Galley Cove, which is about 10 miles from Fastnet. No connection has been established between this incident and the mishap to the steamer Nebraskan, which is reported to have occurred shortly before 9 o'clock at a point about 40 miles from Fastnet.

A steamer was seen outside Crook Haven which lies just north of Galley Cove at about 9 o'clock last night. As she approached in the direction of Fastnet lighthouse two loud reports of a gun were heard.

Several residents of Crook Haven sighted a submarine off Galley Cove. One of them fired two shots with a rifle at the men in the conning tower of the submarine, which dived immediately, but soon rose again further out. Three more shots were fired at her and she again disappeared.

HOW SHE ENDED TEN YEARS OF SKIN-TORTURE

Oct. 28, 1914:—"I had eczema on my face for ten years. Little red pimples formed in a small spot on my chin and then spread all over my face. They itched and burned me awfully. It was certainly embarrassing to me, and I would not go amongst people. I tried almost every remedy and treatment that could be used for this trouble, but nothing did me any good. I used Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, and was relieved in a day or two. In one month I was cured. This was six months ago and the trouble has never returned."—(Signed) Mrs. C. C. Roberts, Weatherford, Okla.

The Resinol treatment speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, even when other treatments prove worse than useless. Doctors have prescribed Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap for eighteen years, and all druggists sell them.
